Registration

Successful domain registration requires:

- Registrant contact require:
 - Located within the EU, Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway, Switzerland or any of the French overseas territories.
 - For private individual
 - the date, place and country of birth (hidden in whois)
- Technical contact must be a company
- two or more nameservers or a nameserver group

The french registry (Afnic) will perform checks on the requirements above and contact the registrant directly in case the requirements are not met, to ask for proof of identification data. (For example, the registrant seems to have an address outside the EU).

Proof of identification data contains:

- Company
 - business registration certificate
 - the ID of the legal representative of the company
- Private individual
 - copy of the holder's national identity card or passport
 - proof of residence of less than three months (telephone or electricity bill, tax notice, etc.
 - holder's email address and telephone number

In case the registry does not receive any documents in time, they will block the domain until the documents are received. To unblock, the registrant has to reply to the email of the registry with the required documents.

The details of an individual registrant will be hidden in the whois automatically.

Registry AFNIC maintains a list of domain names to the "reserved" status, for example town and community names. Unfortunately we cannot see this status until the registration request, that will fail with a "2304, Object status prohibits operation" error.

Reserved domain names can be registered if the registrant has a legitimate interest, for example if the name is his company name. Please contact us in such case. The list is available at AFNIC's website.

IMPORTANT:

Domain Registration Restrictions: Online Gambling and Pharmacy-Related Terms:

In accordance with French law, it is strictly prohibited to offer online casino games or online sports betting on French territory without proper authorization. Additionally, to prevent fraudulent or non-compliant domain registrations, we have enforced a keyword-based restriction within our system across all AFNIC TLDs. This change aims to ensure compliance with French regulations and to protect users from illegal or misleading online activities.

Legal Background

Gambling and Betting Prohibitions

Under Articles L320-1 and L324-1 of the French Internal Security Code and Article 56 of Law No. 2010-476 of May 12, 2010, the following applies:

- Offering online casino games on French territory is strictly prohibited.
- Offering online sports betting without an appropriate license is also strictly prohibited.

The official list of approved and licensed operators can be consulted on Legifrance.

This restriction will apply to all TLDs (.fr, .re, .pm, .tf, .wf, .yt) under the AFNIC Registry.

Transfer

You can start a .pm domain transfer through our API or control panel. This transfer requires the following information:

- an authorisation code that you need to request at your current provider.
- a registrant that resides in the EU, Iceland, Liechtenstein, Norway, Switzerland or any of the French overseas territories.
- an admin contact handle
- a tech contact handle - this can not be a person, but needs to be a company handle
- two or more nameservers or a nameserver group

Once the transfer is started, it will be finished in maximum 22 days:

- if the current registrar approves the transfer, the transfer will complete immediately;
- if the current registrar does not approve nor reject the transfer, the transfer will complete after 8 days;
- if the current registrar rejects the transfer within the first 8 days, the transfer will still complete automatically after 22 days.

If the domain holder wants to cancel an initiated transfer, only the gaining registrar (Openprovider, through you as a reseller) can do so; you can cancel the transfer from the transfer queue in your control panel. The registration period after a successful transfer restarts. The registry will not send an e-mail to the domain contacts after the transfer finishes.
